

Parador de El Hierro

The Parador:

El Hierro, the smallest and least populated of the Canary Islands, lies to the southwest of the archipelago, and was long thought by Europeans to mark the end of the known world. The island's landscape is rugged and volcanic, and the Parador de El Hierro sits on a narrow shelf above the sea at the foot of steep mountains. The setting is wild and awe-inspiring, but this elegant modern hotel with its various terraces offers the guest a cheerful and friendly atmosphere and every possibility for rest and relaxation with facilities including a fascinating garden with swimming pool, a sauna and a Turkish bath.

Primary Facilities:

- Lift
- Parking (chargeable)
- Wi-Fi
- Gardens
- Swimming Pool

Key Activities:

- Hiking
- Snorkelling and Diving
- Various miradores (viewpoints) across the island

Keytel Tips:

- Hike La Llanía route, which includes spectacular views of El Hierro's volcanic ranges
- Dive through crystal clear waters, and, depending on season, see rays, sharks and whales
