

Parador de Salamanca

The Parador:

The Parador de Salamanca, on the edge of the city, is in a strikingly attractive modern building on the left bank of the River Tormes, with stunning views across the river to the old town – a particularly fine sight at night when it is floodlit. The history of Salamanca goes back to before the Carthaginians (it was captured by Hannibal in the 3rd century B.C.), and became an important commercial centre under the Romans. The city is home to the famous university (founded in 1218), two cathedrals (the older one founded in the 12th century), many significant Renaissance buildings, and the vast arcaded Plaza Mayor (dating from the early 18th century).
