

Parador de Lerma

The Parador:

Dominating the main square of the small town of Lerma, some 35 km south of Burgos, is the splendid 17th-century Palacio Ducal de Lerma, now a luxurious Parador. The palace was commissioned from the architect Francisco de Mora by Francisco Gómez de Sandoval y Rojas, first Duke of Lerma, as 'a place of lodging, rest and general enjoyment' for King Philip III. The massive square building has a spired turret at each corner, and a large central courtyard surrounded by arcades featuring both Tuscan and Ionic columns.

Primary Facilities:

- Garage (chargeable)
- Wi-Fi
- Golf (3km)

Key Activities:

- The Plaza Mayor
- Lerma's medieval quarter
- Monastery of Santo Domingo de Silos

Keytel Tips:

- A particularly special feature for the visitor to discover is an inner courtyard where one can enjoy a drink or a bite to eat in the sunshine, secluded from the outside world.
- The superior rooms at the Parador de Lerma each boast different features which make them quite unique.
